

Panther

Newspaper

Norfolk High School - 801 Riverside Blvd. - Norfolk, NE
68701 - Volume 71 - Issue 1 - September 30, 2015

New teachers smile down on NHS

Five new faces grace halls of high school

Walker Heppner
Feature Writer

The new teachers have started to get their things situated in their classrooms. Some of them are even new to the Norfolk community. The summer was busy for them as they got ready for a new school year at a new school with new students. After a long summer of relaxation and settling in, it is finally time for the new teachers to begin their Panther career.

There are some new teachers at the Norfolk High School that people would like to know about. The new media specialist, Jared Lechner, helps students and staff check out books and is a media guru. He went to Peru State College where he earned a 7-12 Mathematics Education degree. He also went to Northeast College to get an Associate of Arts degree. He is currently busy perusing the shelves of the NHS library weeding out books that would fit into the "archaic" category!

Tyson Koehn is also a new teacher. He went to college at Northeast Community College for two years earning a degree in studio arts. He then proceeded to do art education at WSC. His favorite medium is pottery and is working with other 3-D sculptures. This semester he is teaching pottery, advanced drawing, art fundamentals, creative art, and sculpture. His strengths as a teacher are his knowledge of each medium and fresh ideas to keep students interested in art.

Tonja Ripple is the new English teacher, and Deana Schreck is the new Family and Consumer Science teacher. Joining them is Todd Cook, the new band instructor, whom many of you will recognize as he has helped with the band program for a number of years. Students commented that they like the new band teacher because he is funny and teaches them many things about instruments and other band items.

Norfolk High students and staff welcome these five new teachers to the Norfolk community as well as to the high school! Have a great year!

Jared Lechner-Media Specialist

Tyson Koehn-Arts Teacher

Tonja
Ripple-
English Teacher

Todd
Cook-
Band
Teacher

Deana
Schreck-
Family and Consumer
Science

2 Inside Scoop

September 30, 2015

More security needed for journalists outside of station

Gun shots ring throughout the air. The news reporter and cameraman had not seen the figure watching them with such intensity, edging closer by the second in his dark guise; no, for them it was too late. Panicked screams resonate from television speakers in Roanoke, Virginia, the horror playing out live in front of countless viewers: a horror they will not soon forget.

On August 26, 2015, tragedy struck for news station WDBJ7. Reporter Alison Parker, 24, and cameraman Adam Ward, 27, were fatally shot during a live broadcast. Vester Flanagan, a former employee of the station fired for anger issues, was the alleged gunman who shot at the group close to 15 times. Vicki Gardner was being interviewed during the incident and was also shot, but she received surgery and was left in stable condition.

This incident has left me, along with millions of Americans, with a single thought: we as a nation must do

Whether sending a crew to conduct interviews with locals or faced with the outside world. The risks of what could happen in a life-

"We must prioritize protecting our courageous reporters and their newsgathering processes – both abroad and at home," states Caroline Little, President and CEO of the Newspaper Association of America.

There are different ways that reporters and cameramen can be protected while obtaining news footage. One or two armed security guards could escort the groups to the areas they want to use for their coverage. They can stand watch, looking for any possible threats and taking action against them. If security is not to be used, then the news crews should have some sort of defense weapon with them at all times.

We need to prioritize the safety of those who bring us live coverage of headlining news each day. If we cannot solve this problem, our nation will struggle with more incidents such as the one that took place on August 26; we cannot let the deaths of Parker and Ward go in vain.

something about this. No news station should have to live day to day in fear of putting employees in danger.

directing top reporters to other countries for oversea coverage, news stations must have their staff protected when threatening situation, along with how to handle them, should be talked about on a daily basis.

'Sticks, stones may break my bones...'
but words do hurt

Bullying is something we all have to deal with at some point. We have all been bullied at least once in our life. It might just been teasing or a rumor, but we have all been. What is bullying? The repeated use of superior strength and influence to intimidate someone. In other words, when a guy or a girl feels bad about him or herself and tries to feel better by using his or her strengths in making somebody else's life miserable.

Bullying might just start as a little thing, but the truth is that no one knows how big it can get. I think verbal bullying is the worst kind of bullying. Those little words people say without meaning can seriously hurt someone else's feelings. A lot of people do not know how hurtful their words can be. Maybe they just insulted someone once or twice or said something mean to someone without giving it much importance, but was it really just that? Nobody knows what is happening in people's heads, and no one can tell if a mean comment did or did not hurt someone.

My question is: have any bullies ever wondered what their words and their opinions can do to people? I mean how can they sleep at night knowing that they have done all they can to make someone out there feel worthless. Because that is what they are really doing. I think that what bullies do not understand is that picking on someone just because they are smaller or not popular does not make the bully any better. On the contrary, it proves that the person being bullied is.

OUCH!
BULLYING
HURTS!

Don't be a BULLY
be a friend

...not cool...

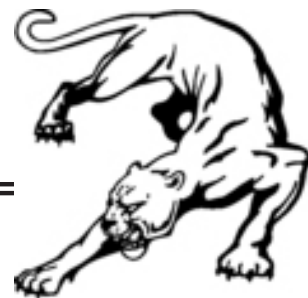

Panther

September 30, 2015

FEATURES: Austin Bruzek, Amanda Hammer, Walker Heppner, Jenna Jochum, Tavian Vazquez. EDITORIALS: Alannah Goode, Arianne Goode, Sara Rojas. COLUMNS: Alannah Goode, Jenna Jochum. REVIEWS: Tanner Frahm, Arianne Goode, Sara Rojas, Tavian Vazquez. ADVISOR: Mrs. Pat Schipporeit

3 Inside Scoop

September 30, 2015

Respect, thankfulness learned through military family

Growing up with a military background can take a strain on one's family. With moving a month after I was born to a whole other country to not seeing my dad for nine months is just a fraction of the stuff myself and others have to go through during one's serving term.

My father joined the Navy a year into college, seeking something new and challenging. Just in that four years, he had done basic training at NTC Orlando, Florida, trained at NATC Millington, Tennessee, and then was stationed at NAS Miramar in San Diego, California, where my brother was born.

He found that the Navy was not what he wanted after all, but instead, he sought to join the Army and continue that journey for 16 years. He started this journey with basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri. He would begin Advanced Individual training at Presidio of Monterey, California, and Ft. Huachuca, Arizona. Finishing all of his training in three years, he was then stationed in San Angelo, Texas; this would be the start of my experience being a military kid.

My family and I did not stay long in Texas; in fact, a little after a month of my being born, our family got stationed in Darmstadt, Germany. My mom, dad, brother, and grandma all lived overseas together for three and a half years until later, again being stationed in Alexandria, Virginia, at the age of three. The only thing I vaguely remember about being in Germany was having an easy bake oven and my room being covered in Blue Clues bedding, clothes, etc. Our experience in Virginia did not last long because we were only there a little over two years.

This last move would consist of me being where I am at now, living in Norfolk, Nebraska. My dad got offered a recruiting position in Norfolk where he would be for a while, until he got the call that he would need to deploy to Bagdad, Iraq for nine months. The only communication I had with him was skype (which never worked half the time). He would come back to find out that he was now getting stationed in Fort Meade, Maryland, where he would live with just my cousin. He chose to end his military career in Fort Meade, wanting to return to Norfolk to experience the end of my high school sports career.

Coming from a military family and back ground taught me a lot about manners and way of life;

I learned how to respect those around and be thankful for what my family and I have, as well as having to teach myself to adapt to the environment around me in order to be successful.

JENNA JOCHUM

IMAGINE DRAGONS SPAWNS EVER-GROWING BOND

The lights dim and fade to nothing, leaving the room in pitch blackness. Cameras can be seen snapping pictures with their bursts of bright white light. Flash, flash, flash.

A curtain cascades down to the floor and dark silhouettes appear on its surface, my eyes trailing after each one, only to see it disappear. The smoke cues and mirrors reflect light shining down upon the drape. Anticipation has reached the point where no one can contain the beast any longer; the crowd erupts in a thunder of shouts and screams. The curtain senses the growing tension and falls to the floor. Silence. All of a sudden, Dan Reynolds materializes from the shadows and jumps onto the stage, singing the first line of Imagine Dragons' (ID's) hit song "Shots" into the microphone. Overcome with awe, I stand there shocked and sink it all in. That was when the night truly began.

The evening of Wednesday, June 10, was the night I truly understood how much my love lies with Imagine Dragons. After Reynolds talked about the few years he spent as a teenager singing on the corners of streets in downtown Omaha, he went on to share his open love he has for Nebraskans, and then the band's own fans. Time went on, songs were sung, moves were busted, and the end drew near. The members left the stage without so much as a good-bye, was amongst people.

ALANNAH GOODE

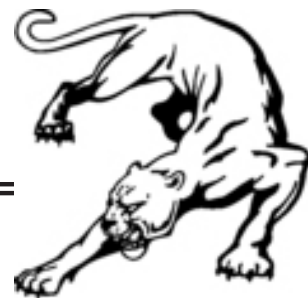

Imagine Dragons never abandons their fans. They returned and finished with "The Fall", and like the title, leaves began to skydive from the ceiling and land in the outstretched hands of the crowd. Afterwards, they bowed and looked around the room. I waved goodbye, and I could feel Reynolds' eyes land on me.

Even though I could barely see him, unspoken words and feelings seemed to pass between us; appreciation, love, support, and a promise that we can make it through whatever is thrown in our paths. When I left, I thought the bond between ID and I would weaken the further I walked away from the CenturyLink Center, but it did the opposite: it grew stronger.

"Encore" shouted the Imagine

4 In the Middle

September 30, 2015

NHS drama prepares for action!

Jenna Jochum

Feature Writer

Pitch black, curtains closed, and popcorn in hand. The suspense in the air feels like a great burden on weights of everyone's shoulders who are waiting for this magical journey to begin. The droopy, yet story telling curtains, crawl open to a village full of jealousy, love, humor, and a disaster waiting to happen. The Norfolk Senior High Theater department is starting the 2015-2016 theater year off with Snow White and the Little Men and Ever After.

The high school drama department, headed by Taryn Retzlaff, with assistants Kathy Steinkamp and Brittany Young, have announced the cast and crew for this year's fall production. Starring in this year's lead role as Snow White in Ever After are Junior, Tatum Hausmann, who has been involved in NHS theatre all three of her years here and freshman, Alaina Pihlgren, who is performing in her first play at Norfolk Senior High in Snow White and the Little Men.

"NHS drama is where I found who I wanted to be. Acting is like transforming yourself to someone you would never dream of becoming. I've been in many plays; such as: Peter Pan, The Diviners, You Can't Take It with You, Animal Farm, and The Sound of Music.

Although, with this being my mean to you to be head of the NHS

"The kids know that when I say, 'Let's run that one more time,' I really mean let's run that ten more times!," Ms. Retzlaff, head of drama department, said.

Last year, I figured I could go bold and hope for the best; I am so thankful for Theatre Department?"

"I think I have the best job in the world! I get to work with awesome people like Mrs. Young and, Mrs. Steinkamp, and the 100+ kids we have involved. We have a blast at practices, have a highly active Drama Club, and work hard to produce quality plays for the community. To top it all off, our home is in the Johnny Carson Theatre, which in my opinion, is the best high school theatre in the state," Ms. Retzlaff, head of drama department, said.

She explained that her special group of kids that she gets to work with is very diverse and fun, but know how to work hard all at the same time.

being a lead role in Ever After," Tatum Hausmann, junior, said.

"What does it

The seven little men are showcasing their talents on the stage for everyone to see! Their funny and random actions are going to make the audience fall out of their seats! photo by Taryn Retzlaff

The theater department chose to do Snow White and the Little Men and Ever After because children play productions are very popular throughout the Norfolk community.

"What does a regular practice production day even consist of?"

Ms. Retzlaff informed me that their department usually has practices from 6:00 p.m. to about 8:30ish, so that some of the theater students can be involved in other activities in our school or in the community. "The kids know that when I say, 'Let's run that one more time,' I really mean let's run that ten more times!," Ms. Retzlaff, head of drama department, said.

"Being a part of the theatre department means: Teamwork. Each individual might have a different part to play onstage, the backstage, beyond the stage, or sometimes in the audience. In Acting Theater, the actors don't have a set path to follow; they have to go home, become completely enveloped in their character and go onstage and pretend to be a completely different person for about four times a year," Wilfred

Gomez, sound crew chief, said when I asked him about life in the drama department.

Sophomore Megan Neilson, is looking to do some serious work behind the scenes this year for all the upcoming plays. "NHS Theatre means being able to be a part of a team and working to bring all parts of the production together to put on a successful show. I have been on the tech crew for a year now, helping in The Sound of Music, Animal Farm, Hit and Misdemeanor, and The Crucible. All the people in NHS drama make it a fun experience and atmosphere," Neilson, said.

"Snow White and The Little Men" and "Ever After" will be showing on September 24th at 7:00 p.m. (with free admission to students with their I.D. card), September 26th at 7:00 p.m., and on September 27 at 2:00 p.m. Come out and support Norfolk Senior High's drama department by attending one or more performances throughout the year!

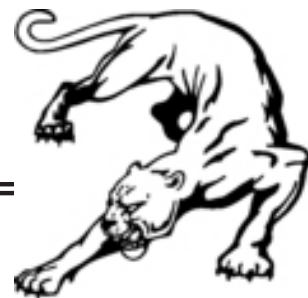

The Drama Department will begin its '15-'16 year September 24 at 7:00 p.m. Freshman Alaina Pihlgren and Sophomores Ethan Carlson and Amber Fehrs get into their characters at dress rehearsal. photo by Taryn Retzlaff

5 In the Middle

September 30, 2015

Snow White dwarfs Disney's magical tales

Amanda Hammer Feature Writer

Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs is an all-time favorite movie and play production for many kids and adults all around the world. Snow White was released to the public on February 4, 1938, based on the famous fairy tale which was the first animated feature to be produced in English and in Technicolor. Snow White premiered in Hollywood on December 21, 1937, earning a standing ovation from the crowd full of stars. The film quickly gathered eight million dollars, a crazy amount during the Great Depression, and the most made by any film up to that time. Critics were unanimous in their admiration for Snow White.

Snow White opened with the evil Queen asking her magic mirror the question "Who is the fairest one of them all?" The mirror gives its answer: Snow White, the queen's stepdaughter. Ordered by the queen to kill the princess, the woodsman instead tells Snow White to hide in the forest. There she encounters a host of friendly animals, who lead her to a cottage inhabited by the Seven Dwarfs: Sleepy, Dopey, Doc, Sneezy, Grumpy, Bashful and Happy. In the end one comes to find that as the Disney trademark shows, love conquers all. The dwarfs defeat the Queen and Snow White falls in love with the Prince.

All around the country many types of

Facts about Snow White

1. Disney took out multiple loans to finance the movie.
2. Even Disney's wife, Lillian, thought the movie would completely bomb.
3. Dopey was originally slated to be a chatterbox, but producers could not find a voice that was quite suitable for the bald dwarf.
4. Animators believed that Walt Disney had wonderfully expressive eyebrows, which he apparently used to great effect in story meetings.
5. Several songs were written for the movie that did not make it into the final cut.

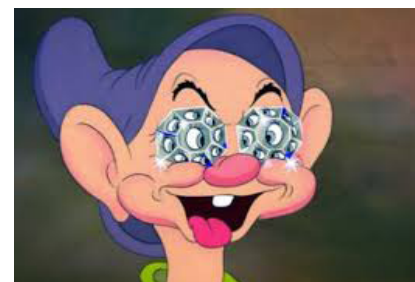

schools with children of all ages put on a play about Snow White. When a play is put

On, it is more than likely changed so it is not exactly like other play productions and/or the movie. The play production this year at Norfolk High is "Snow White and the Little Men"; therefore, it is not the same as Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs. Many schools from all around the countries interpret Snow White differently on stage. That is what makes it interesting.

When changes in a play or movie are made, it makes but Disney's mind could not be changed.

The students at Norfolk High were asked the question, "What is your favorite fairy tale or Disney movie, and why?"

"My favorite Disney movie is Bambi because it's very colorful and cute," Jenna Baker, junior, said.

"The Little Mermaid, because she has red hair and so people want to see it even more.

In the mid 1930s, Walt

Disney established himself as a well fit Hollywood animated-short film producer. Disney short cartoons drew crowds into theaters, but theater owners were not booking cartoons. At that time, costs began to rise on animated productions. Disney knew that animated features/movies would come eventually. In 1934 Disney decided it was time to create an animated feature/movie. His brother, the financial officer, was shocked with Disney's decision, because profits were down. Disney wanted to spend at least 50,000 dollars to make this film. Lilly, his wife, was also shocked with his decision, do I. Also because it ends very happily." Hattie Shipps, sophomore, said.

Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs, continues to be an all-time favorite all around the world to this day. Because it was the first animated film production in English many Americans call this movie their favorite as well. After being premiered in Hollywood it is now shown all over the world at home and theaters. The movie and play production will forever be a favorite to many people.

6 Local Sports

September 30, 2015

Panthers' fall sports ready to pounce once again!

Austin Bruzek
Sports writer

The beginning of fall sports has pounced on the Panthers once again! NHS is preparing to compete in football, boys' tennis, cross country, softball, and girls' golf.

To begin the Norfolk Panther football team continued their victory, beating the South Sioux City Cardinals 49-6. The Panthers are looking back to get to State while falling short with a 7-2 record last year.

"Getting to wear the jersey and supporting the high school is the greatest feeling," Cordyn Weinberger, freshman, said.

The goals for the Norfolk Panther football team are to get better every week, and to play at a very high level during practice and games, but their specific goals are to run 80 offensive plays in every game, hold opponents to seven or fewer points each week, and hold opponents under 200 total yards each week. The senior class has shown up as outstanding leaders again this year, all summer and in early fall camp they have seen numerous leaders step forward and aid the development of this team.

"The Norfolk Panther football team builds from last year's from each practice, dual, and tournament. Also, control their game and just have fun!

"We build from last year's success by utilizing the experience we gained last year's success by staying focused each and every day in practice. We practice with a purpose. We strive to get better in some aspect of the game every day," Lance Kosch said.

There are many types of leaders on the softball team--vocal leaders and those who lead by example. The senior leaders are Paige Kramer, Kaylani Pekny, Riley Johnson, Haleigh Griffith, Ashlynn Marx, and Zoe Wieneke. The team goals every year remain the same: "Be better today than you were yesterday."

"If they can do that, then all long-term, specific and individual goals will be in place and ready to attain. We need to find some replacements for certain positions, and we think those will be filled by those that have some experience. As soon as we get positions figured out, that is when the success will come for this team. They are a hard working group and it is an honor to coach them." Chuck Hughes, head coach, said.

Cross country is just around the corner and runners have practiced all summer to compete in meets this year. The senior members on the team are Noah Beardslee, TeJai Clausen, Andrew Meuret, Travis Millikan, Breanna Harthoorn, Erika Kumm, Madison Clausen, Aurora Gates, Emily Wicker, and Katia Soto.

"We have a lot of experience on this team as well as great leadership from our senior runners. We hope to use that experience to be a contender at each meet this season," Mrs. Angie Means, girls head coach, said.

The Panther staff wishes everyone a successful and healthy year to all fall sports teams.

At Skyview Lake Seniors Andrew Meuret, Travis Millikan, and TeJai Clausen compete against each other. The team divided into groups of different colors to simulate an actual race. photo by Milestone yearbook

Ashlyn Marx, senior, and Jill Orwig, junior, compete against Fremont losing their first game, 6-3. The Panthers pounced back beating them in the second game, 3-2. photo by Milestone yearbook

The Panther Posse wore yellow for the first home football game for Team Nick. The students pack the house every week there is a game, while doing chants and getting loud. photo by Milestone yearbook

The Pink Panthers perform a kick routine at the first football home against Columbus. There are 20 Pink Panthers all together. photo by Milestone yearbook

success by continuing to focus on the things that make good teams.... camaraderie, integrity, focus, and improvement." Tom Olson, head coach, said.

The biggest leaders on the boys' tennis team this year are Micah Gardner, Parker Hansen, and Riley Coy. The goal for this year's season is to learn something about their game and themselves from matches played last year and through maturity on the court," Kelly Krueger, head coach, said.

The girls' golf team is coached Lance Kosch. The leaders on the team include four juniors: Allison Temple, Mariah Yagow, Whitney Lindsay, and Lauren Osweiler. The goal for this year is to improve each week and to finish in the top three at districts.

"We build from

7 National Sports

September 30, 2015

Fantasy Football brings excitement to sports enthusiasts

Tavian Vazquez
Sports Writer

To Begin, fantasy football is here, sweeping the nation with the leagues, drafting, and playing games against others. Preparing for drafting is going to be tough, pick great players wisely.

First, leagues with friends and family begin. Creating a league is very simple, just go to name your league, invite people, then set a draft date and wait to begin. When entering a league, just enter your team name, then fantasy is pretty much set, besides waiting for the draft date. Then there are some leagues that are joinable and are having their draft in a couple seconds. If chose, that path, then be ready to pick players and be very strategic, pick the most vital players that will help out the team.

"I've never played fantasy football, but it seems cool," Chreighton Blain, freshman, said.

When drafting is done, pick up players that other people picked by trading, be careful because if someone is injured, maybe you have got the bad end on the running back first, and the players are listed in the rating that analysis's chose. Getting bad players is not fun.

"It is very fun, but if you get bad players, benched. If a player has a bye week that means the whole team has that week off. Once the game has started for the players, they are locked in and a person cannot change them.

Third, playing games against others exfoliates excitement and nervousness. The thrill of playing others will get big if not kept calm; many people get mad if they lose or if they do not have good games.

"It is very competitive" Tiego Vazquez, junior, said.

All the points and how to win are based on the players and how they perform. When playing all of the people in one's league is over, going to the playoffs based on the record is next. If won, bragging rights are always allowed and rubbing it in people's faces until next year.

To sum up, fantasy football is here, sweeping the nation with the leagues, drafting, and playing games against others. Fantasy football brings me joy, excitement, fear, regret, and parsimonious feelings. If deciding to do fantasy football or not, be prepared for a world of many different emotions.

deal.

Second, drafting is one of the most interesting parts of fantasy football. When drafting, being put in a random selection to choose from is very fun. If first pick, then will be last pick in the second round of the draft, and if last in the first round, starting first is fun in the second round. When drafting, usually choose to pick a you are screwed" Zachary Sellin, sophomore, said.

If the first running back on the bottom of the list, then he will not get many points or even may not play. When someone goes through all the rounds, then the draft is over and he has his team, he can change his lineup to see who is going to be starting and who is going to be

The big draft board in Los Angeles, California shows the teams in order of the draft.

Jaemis Winston is the first round draft pick in the NFL draft, chosen by the Tampa Bay Buccaneers. He stands with his head coach, Lovie Smith, and the offensive coordinator.

Top 5 Sports Teams

1. Nebraska
Huskers

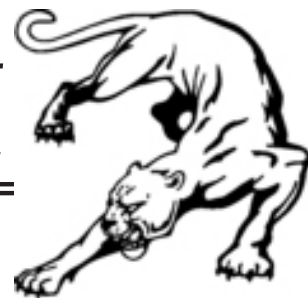

2. Texas
Longhorns

3. Duke
Blue
Devils

4. Chicago
Bears

5. Golden
State
Warriors

September 30, 2015

Sep. 03

Elton John

CenturyLink Center & Arena
Omaha, NEUpcoming
Concerts

Sep. 09

Taylor Swift
& Vance JoyCenturyLink Center & Arena
Omaha, NETavian Vazquez
Reviewer

Straight Outta Compton was a fantastic movie, it had lots of hype and many great features of the movie that are very relatable. Straight Outta Compton was a film that portrayed the life of many African Americans in the city of Compton. Gang violence and

Film sheds light on discrimination

many acts of police brutality to the citizens happened just for being their color. If you were a regular nice African American in Compton, you could get stopped for nothing wrong, and the police needed nothing else to book you. For the actors in this movie, Ice Cube's real name was O'Shea Jackson and was portrayed by his son, O'Shea Jackson, Jr. Dr.Dre was the man that created the beat and the rhythm of the song, the actor that played him was Corey Hawkins, a young male that grew up in Washington D.C. The main character and the one who funded to start reckless records, Eazy-E. Jason Mitchell, he is best known for playing as Eazy-E, a very iconic artist. The movie was a very successful movie making around $60.2 million dollars, one of the all-time highs for a movie. When you think of this movie, you might think of violence and rebellion, but it is mostly a movie that shares the perspectives of people living in the "ghetto" parts of town.

STRAIGHT
OUTTA
COMPTON

POLDARK drama demands viewers

Arianne Goode
Reviewer

The year is 1781. Battle rages on in Virginia with the Revolutionary War; the patriots fighting against the redcoats to gain independence. Ross Poldark, a Cornwall native, suddenly grabs his musket and chants to his fellow infantrymen that they "are to live here or die here" as they are ambushed by a group of colonists. Smoke fills the air as shot after shot is ejected from gun barrels, the toll of bloodshed growing ever so quickly. Poldark is smacked in the face with the butt of a musket, the force of the blow knocking him to the ground. The outnumbered band of Englishmen is seemingly wiped out in the attack, that is, all but one: Poldark.

Masterpiece on PBS brought a new historical drama to the screen this summer, with Poldark showing eight episodes of its first season. Winston Graham's twelve-part book series is the basis of the show, with season one focusing on the first two novels. Aidan Turner stars as Poldark who struggles with his place among the rankings of hierarchy.

The Revolutionary War has left more than just a mental mark on our leading role; a scar now runs from temple to jaw along the left side of Poldark's face, serving as a reminder of his gruesome experience at battle. His leave brings him back home to Cornwall in 1783, only for him to find more sufferings: his father is dead, his lands are in ruin, and his fiancée is to marry his cousin. Cornwall's copper industry is also enduring a hardship; the infamous Warleggan family is set on making profits by closing down the mines, in turn leaving laborers out of work. Poldark's stubbornness keeps him on his lands, though, and he works to reopen the family mine Wheal Leisure. One thing he was not expecting was for a red-haired miner's daughter named Demelza Carne, played by Eleanor Tomlinson, to stumble into his life through a market brawl.

A television series revealing grief and poverty, yet filled with emotions of mystery and romance, leaves the new must-see drama. As a viewer and newfound fan of the show, I would highly recommend it to anyone. I give Poldark five out of five stars.

New restaurant makes its exciting presence known

Tanner Frahm
Reviewer

The most recent new restaurant, Vietnamese Noodle House, is here in Norfolk with a bang! It is located at 1220 Riverside Blvd next to Sakura Sushi and Steakhouse. They are open Monday through Saturday from 11 a.m until 7 p.m. Their menu consists of these main dishes: egg rolls, curry chicken, different kinds of beef noodle soups, meatballs, pork chops, and fried rice. Their beverages consists of black and iced coffee, coconut juice, different flavors of bubble tea, and water. When a customer first walks in to be seated, the individual is met by very kind and caring workers that will get the customer whatever he wants for his meal.

The customer will also be amazed by all of the colorful decorations hanging on the walls. As an individual is ordering, they will give the customer the choice of either eating with spoons and forks or eating with chopsticks. While the individual is waiting for his meal, there are all kinds of sauces on the table that the customer can choose from to put on his food.

As the waiter gives the individual the food, he is very careful about giving the food to them. Then after the waiter gives the customer the food, he will check on the customer every so often to make sure that the customer has all that they need. Then when the customer is done with the food, the waiter will gently take the food away and give the individual any boxes to take the food home.

When the person is ready to pay for his food, he will get a friendly smile from the waiter. Then the waiter will say: "Please come again!"

If I had to rate this restaurant, I would rate it four stars because they make good food, but there is not a whole lot to choose from. However, if someone likes to eat a variety of different kinds of soups and noodles, the Vietnamese Noodle House should be at the top of the list for new places to eat in Norfolk.

Now You See Me out on DVD; second act coming soon

Sara Rojas
Reviewer

In May 21 2013 the film "Now You See Me" was release. The movie was about four talented street magicians that are brought together by an unknown sponsor. The four of them receive a card with an address and the picture of an eye in the back. And a year later Daniel Atlas, Merritt McKinney, Henley Reeves, and Jack Wilde are performing in a show in Las Vegas as the "Four Horsemen"

In their show in Vegas they robbed 3.2 million euros of a bank in Paris without leaving the stage, they gave the money to the audience. Once the police found out that the bank had actually been robbed the case is assigned to Dylan Rohde, an FBI agent, and is partnered with an Interpol agent named Alma Dray who thinks there's a "Fifth Horsemen" helping the magicians and that they are working for a secret company called The Eye, which consist in using illusions to steal from the rich and give it to the poor. The agents' goal is to find out how they did it and stop them before they do it again, so they meet with Thaddeus Bradley.

Bradley used to be a magician but now he has a TV show where he expose magicians' tricks. He tells the agents exactly how the "Four Horsemen" robbed a bank in Paris from a stage in Las Vegas. The "Four Horsemen" kept robbing more and more money in every show, but in their last show they stole a money-filled safe made by Elkhorn and they disappear in thin air leaving a shower of money. The money turns out to be fake and Dylan find the real money in Bradley's car.

This makes him think that he is the Fifth Horsemen but Bradley denies it and affirm he was set up. Meanwhile the Four Horsemen went to Central Park to meet with the Fifth Horsemen for the first time, and the "Fifth Horsemen" welcomes them to The Eye

Now You See Me: The second Act is the sequel of the 2013 film "Now You See Me". The movie is set to be released on June 10, 2016. The plot is believed to be that three years after the events of the first film, Arthur Tressler's son Walter seeks to bring "The Four Horsemen" to justice, after his father's imprisonment. There's also word about a third movie but the date that is going to be release hasn't come out yet.

Top Five

Games

- 1 "Call of Duty"
2. "Monopoly"
3. "Madden 15"
4. "Apples to Apples"

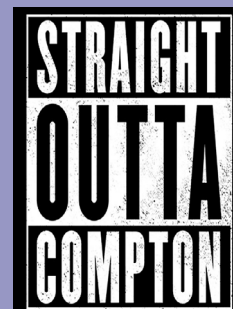

Books

1. Percy Jackson series
2. Maze Runner
3. Harry Potter series
4. Hunger Games
5. Diary of a Wimpy Kid

Movies

1. Straight Outta Compton
2. Nemo
3. Hunger Games
4. Blind Side
5. Fast & Furious series

Music

1. Fetty Wap
2. Taylor Swift
3. J-Cole
4. The Weekend
5. Beyonce

TV Shows

1. Sports Center
2. SpongeBob
3. Pretty Little Liars
4. Walking Dead
5. Big Bang Theory

